

Chocolate Party Ice-Breaker Game

One thousand years ago, chocolate was:

Eaten

Drunken

Smoked

Chocolate was discovered by:

The Mayans

The Spanish

The Aztecs

Cocoa beans grow on

Trees

Vines

Bushes

When chocolate was first discovered, the first process to turn cocoa beans into chocolate was to:

Grind the cocoa beans

Dry the cocoa beans

Ferment the cocoa beans

Boil the cocoa beans

Sweet hot chocolate was first introduced in:

Mexico

Italy

Spain

Before the invention of the steam engine, chocolate in Europe was a drink reserved only for:

The monks

The rich

The poor

Filled chocolate candies were first invented in:

The USA

Belgium

Switzerland

The first chocolate snack was called:

Snickers

Almond Joy

Goo Goo Cluster

True or False:

Henry Nestle helped invent Milk Chocolate (True)

But before that he was making:

Ice Cream

Baby Food

Candles

(Henry Nestle originally made just baby food – but he was the one who discovered a way to thicken milk chocolate. And his co-inventor, Daniel Peters was originally a candlemaker - but fell in love with a chocolate maker's daughter so he traded his candle making for chocolate) 😊

True or False:

Cocoa beans were used as money. (True – you could buy a rabbit for 10 beans or a slave for 100)

Bride and grooms used to show their love for each other by exchanging 5 cocoa beans. (True)

Milton Hershey made the first “non-rectangular” chocolate to eat. (True – Hershey Kisses)

Milton Hershey was from Switzerland. (False – from America – Hershey company in Hershey, PA)

Aztec warriors were ordered to drink chocolate before they went into battle. (True – Montezuma loved chocolate – ordering up to 50 cups a day)